Affordable Housing
Wright County

May 2008

The demand for affordable housing exceeds supply.

The unmet affordable housing need through the year 2010 in Wright County is conservatively estimated at 6,019 low-income households.\(^1\) Meanwhile, the number of households in the state spending more than half of their income on housing increased from 1 in 15 in 2000 to 1 in 8 in 2006. Minnesota experienced the fastest increase of extremely cost burdened households of any state in the nation during this time period.\(^2\)

The table above shows the number and percent of households in different income brackets that pay over 30% of household income for rental or ownership costs.\(^3\) It illustrates that the burden of housing costs weighs more heavily on lower-income families.

WHAT IS AFFORDABLE HOUSING?

Housing is considered affordable if it consumes 30% or less of a household’s gross income.

Generally, when households spend more than 30% of their income to meet housing costs, they do not have enough income to meet other basic needs or weather financial setbacks.
Lower-income households face extreme affordability challenges.

The chart below compares the median earnings of different workers to the income required for affordable housing. The median household income for Wright County was $61,861 in 2006.
